Fire Safety Officer Course

Our Fire Safety Officer Course will be carried out on Wednesday 19th and Thursday 20th April, 2017 and is open for registration and you will find the Nomination Form attached.

This course is designed for those required to fulfil the role of Fire Safety Officer as defined in the NSW Health Policy Directive PD2010_024 Fire Safety in Health Care Facilities.

Covering 6 units over two days of study this course prepares the participant in the development, implementation and operation of workplace emergency prevention and response. Participants will receive a Nationally Recognised Statement of Attainment in relation to the 6 units of study.

Fire Warden Course

We currently have positions available for a Fire Warden Course on Thursday, 18th May, 2017 and we have included a Nomination Form for this course.

Our Fire Warden Course delves into the requirements of AS3745 - Planning for emergencies in facilities.

Each participant will develop an understanding of how to deal with fire and other emergency situations and be introduced to the wide range of emergency response equipment installed in a facility. The variety of different fire extinguishers is explained and the participant is given practical training in the correct use of fire extinguishers, fire blankets and fire hose reels.

The instructor will provide an explanation of the operation and structure of an Emergency Control Organisation and an Emergency Planning Committee.

The course prepares each participant to undertake a role as a Fire Warden through both classroom examples and practical exercises.

Other available Training

Safety and Fire Education offer more than just Fire Warden and Fire Safety Officer Courses. If you have a requirement for In house fire and Emergency Evacuation training, Manual Handling, Infection Control, First Aid or perhaps Anaphylaxis training we can help you out.
